4. Scope

In Scope

1. Check-in feature that lets users document their thoughts, mood, worries, and anything else they want to share about their mental health, with weekly metric tracking.
2. Calming user interface with encouraging messaging that is positive, user-specific, and mentally affirming, making the user feel safe and secure.
3. Display lists of local resources and mental health professionals, including student counselors, that users can access.
4. Strong security and privacy of user information, unable to be accessed by anyone other than the user and preventing HIPAA violations.
5. Immediate and user-specific support given upon check-ins that the app deems worrying based on known mental health knowledge.

Out of Scope

1. A public forum where users can communicate with each other.
2. Official diagnoses of mental health issues from the app
3. Gamification of the app, such as tracking a “streak” of app usage and tracking a score
